d049

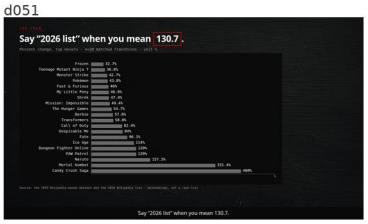

For a buyer, the so what is simple.

d050

Say "2019" when you mean 90.9.

d051

Say "2026 list" when you mean 130.7.

d052

Star Wars plus the Marvel film row already pass Pokémon's 2019 total before you add Spider-Man or Wizarding World.

d053

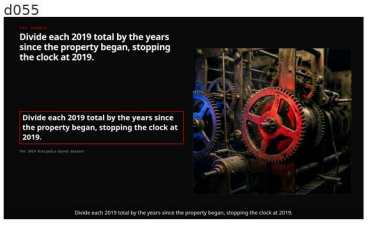

The chart is about mix, not a single crown.

d054

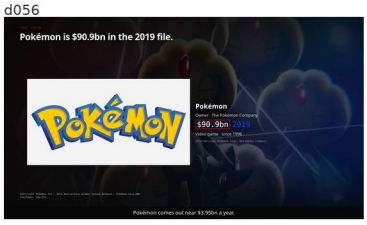

Divide each 2019 total by the years since the property began, stopping the clock at 2019.

d107

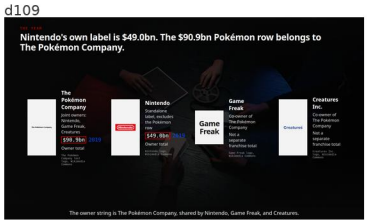

Nintendo's own label is 49bn.

d108

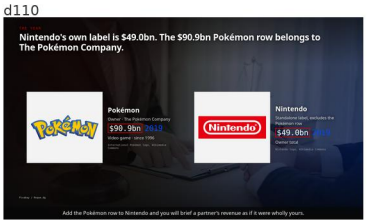

Pokémon's 90.9 is not in that 49.

d109

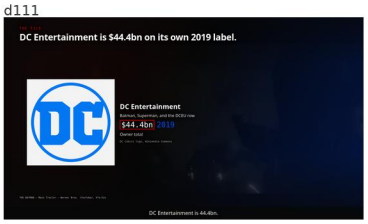

The owner string is The Pokémon Company, shared by Nintendo, Game Freak, and Creatures.

d110

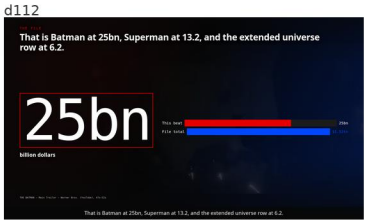

Add the Pokémon row to Nintendo and you will brief a partner's revenue as if it were wholly yours.

d111

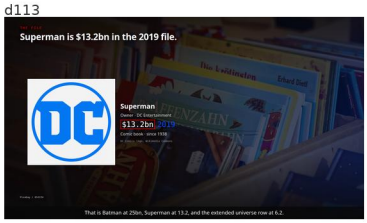

DC Entertainment is 44.4bn.

d112

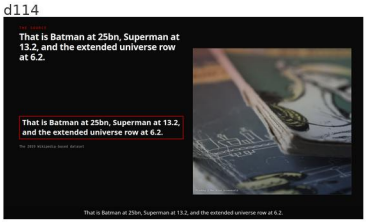

That is Batman at 25bn, Superman at 13.2, and the extended universe row at 6.2.

d115

Wizarding World, at 28.1bn, is Warner, not DC.

d116

What that means: "DC plus Harry Potter" is 2 conversations.

d117

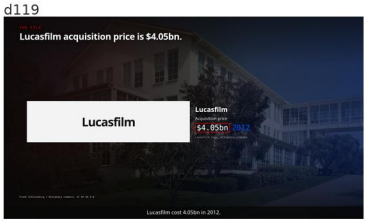

Pixar cost 7.4bn in 2006.

d118

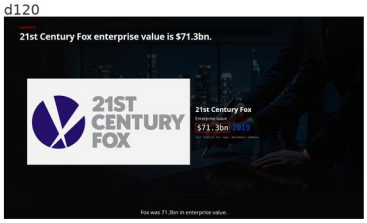

Marvel cost 4bn in 2009.

d119

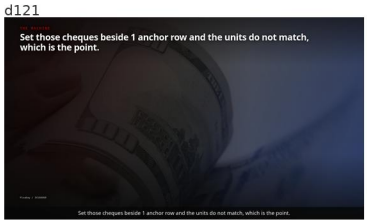

Lucasfilm cost 4.05bn in 2012.

d120

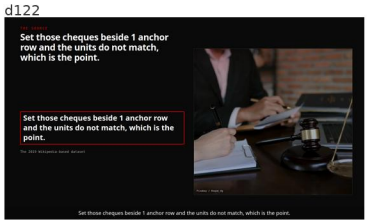

Fox was 71.3bn in enterprise value.

d121

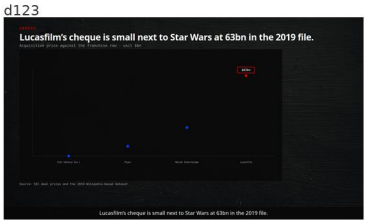

Set those cheques beside 1 anchor row and the units do not match, which is the point.

d122

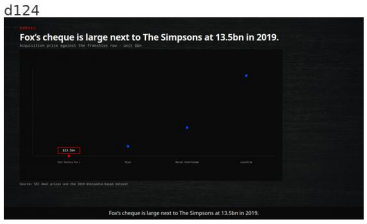

Set those cheques beside 1 anchor row and the units do not match, which is the point.

d123

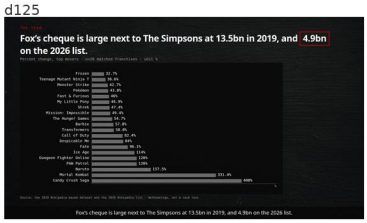

Lucasfilm's cheque is small next to Star Wars at 63bn in the 2019 file.

d124

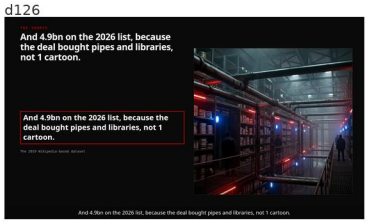

Fox's cheque is large next to The Simpsons at 13.5bn in 2019.

d125

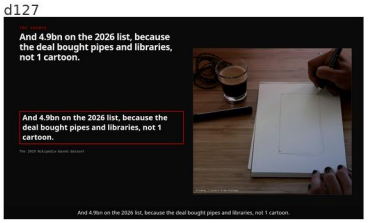

Fox's cheque is large next to The Simpsons at 13.5bn in 2019, and 4.9bn on the 2026 list.

d126

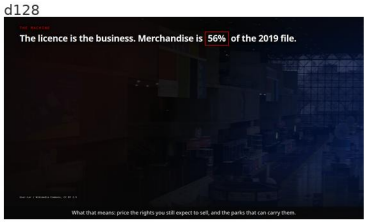

And 4.9bn on the 2026 list, because the deal bought pipes and libraries, not 1 cartoon.
